

Steeple Center Lunch and Learn

Two Dates:

Wednesday, January 31, 12-2pm | Saturday, February 24, 12-2pm

120 East State (park on East Hanover)

Come and meet us and learn more about how the Steeple Center project will transform First Presbyterian Church of Trenton into a community-centered performing arts and events venue.

120 East State, Inc., a new non-profit that will develop the property, recently received a $3 million grant from the New Jersey Historic Trust to kick-start its fundraising. This vision will provide a new community asset and engine for economic development in the heart of downtown Trenton. Join us on either date for an information and conversation session presented by developer Michael Goldstein, architect Annabelle Radcliffe-Trenner, and other 120 East State board members and staff. Lunch provided. Come and meet us and learn more about how the Steeple Center project will transform First Presbyterian Church of Trenton into a community-centered performing arts and events venue.
